About the BFC

TheBFC.org

Please join us and other industry leaders as we discuss the built environment and critical issues of our times. We have carefully selected these key impact issues and growing trends, assembled subject experts and invite you to participate in our spirited discussions.

The Building Futures Council was established in 1952 under the National Academy of Sciences / National Research Council (NAS/NRC). We are an independent, non-profit corporation composed of senior executives of organizations engaged in all aspects of the building and construction process, including private and public owners, planners, engineers, architects, constructors, attorneys, financiers, accountants, insurers, investors and academics. In fulfilling its charter, the BFC makes use of the varied talents of its multidisciplinary, diverse membership to improve the process by which the physical assets of our nation's built environment are recreated, managed, cared for and disposed of in our societies. We also aim to improve the performance of the industry in protecting and enhancing the environment, both built and natural. Finally we aim to improve the competitive position of our industry in the world market.

The goal of the organization has remained the same: To be a catalyst for improving the future of the built environment by becoming a clearinghouse and "think tank" to address concerns within the industry from a non-partisan basis. Members serve as individuals but act collectively to identify and address critical contemporary issues encountered in the building and construction process, analyzing, discussing and advocating policies, procedures and criteria for improving efficiency in the process and furthering the economic, environmental and social well being of the nation. Non members and friends in the related communities of interest are always welcome to support our purpose and aspirations.

On behalf of the BFC, I would like to thank you in advance for your participation and look forward to seeing you at the City Club in San Francisco on November 3rd and 4th.

Sincerely,

Todd C. Pennington
Chairman
